Xenon A fast-moving strategic shoot-'em-up.

Game Play

From the moment the Captain's face appeared on the static you knew he was in trouble. As the only other Federation ship in the sector you had to go to his aid. You needed to fight your way through swarms of alien grunts, collecting essential supplies for the fleet. At the end of each sector you have a chance to defend and retask but only after you have defeated the most vicious alien you have ever seen.

A strategic, vertically-scrolling shoot-'em-up. You have the option of swagging between two very different craft, to suit the challenge facing you at the time: either a ground-based scouter capable of eight-way movement, or a laserfighter aircraft to fly over obstacles.

Features

- * Data weapons and defenses that appear throughout the game.
- * Strategic choices between the craft.
- * Digitized effects and speech.
- * Stunning graphics.
- * Tremendously addictive gameplay.
- * Self-adjusting difficulty through intelligent aliens.

World Darts 801 against the head.

Game Play

An amazing simulation of one of the world's most popular pub games. Play in a tough arena where you must outmaneuver some of the world's best players, and one that is completely out of this world. All the players have their own distinctive style of play, and you will need to develop yours if you are to reach through to the final and hopefully take the crown. You may be lucky and hit them on a off day, but they are all champions and you will need a steady hand, a good eye, and a great deal of practice to succeed in this tight run.

The game features full control of your shots, allowing you to aim at whatever number you want so if you do not want to go for 100 you need not - but then you may be unlikely to win.

Features

- * Fully simulated challenge of scores.
- * An announcer to call the players' names and their scores.
- * Detailed animated sequences of your opponent's throws, against one of the most detailed backgrounds.
- This will keep the players off the darts board and on the machine.

SportTime Table Hockey A great simulation of the classic, all-action bar game.

Game Play

So simple anyone can understand it. Played on a polished wood table, with side wall, and a goal at each end, you use a wooden paddle to manoeuvre a metal puck over the opponent's goal. Unbeknownst to him he is doing exactly the same thing, and is soon get it in his groin.

This simulation gives you complete end-on view of the table, the physics controls you paddle, and the computer provides the opponent. You will need to play very well to beat the computer, it has instant in its mastery of the game.

Features

- * Fast, furious and extremely addictive.
- * Full on-screen scoring, in traditional manner.
- * Lightning fast addictive action.
- * Great sound effects.
- * One or two simultaneous players.
- * Buy it and continue play options.

Blasta Ball A futuristic competitor sport, set in 2013 played between two spaceships.

Game Play

Seen from vertically above the playing field, with action over the ball and a 'radar' style map showing the whole of the pitch. Players control the movement of the ships, moving a large ball about by shooting it with laser cannon, or running into it.

The object is to score more points than your opponent, by driving the ball to the opponent's end of the pitch, for either of two sorts of goal. Drive the ball off the end of the pitch and you score a single point. Get it into the basket at the end of the zone and you score two.

It is a fast, all-action game, with no room for mistakes. With barriers on each side of the pitch, there are no encroaches to play, except for goals.

Features

- * The ships guided in difficulty.
- * Fun action.
- * Challenging and addictive game play.
- * One or two player simultaneous action.
